

Your Money or Your Life.

Be prepared in the Latest Cyber Threat Landscape in 2017

With data breaches and Ransomware from advanced malware continuing to make headlines, ATP protection or Sandboxing become essential technology that should be considered in 2017. This topic helps you understand the hacking procedure and provide advice for yourselves and your company. The solution should keep the protection automated against latest cyber threats, based a heterogeneous mix of security components that operates as a whole.